Praise for The Haunted Housewives of Allister, Alabama:

"Prepare for the read of your life!"
- Perpetual Motion Machine

"The Burg gave us Stephanie Plum, Las Vegas gave us Lucky O'Toole, and now, Allister, Alabama, presents us with Cleo Tidwell."

- Lane Robins, critically acclaimed author of Maledicte, Kings and Assassins, and the Shadows Inquiries series (as Lyn Benedict)

"Mystery, murder, mayhem, and...Elvis? Cozy in for a laugh-filled evening as Susan Abel Sullivan spins a ghost tale with Southern attitude and good style that you won't be able to put down."

- Heidi Ruby Miller, author of Greenshift and Ambasadora

"Fans of Stephanie Plum and the paranormal will love The Haunted Housewives of Allister, Alabama!"

- Sherry Peters, author of Silencing Your Inner Saboteur

"Imaginative, suspenseful, and funny...a unique, must-have addition to your to-be-read stack!"

- Kelly L. Stone, author of Grave Secret and Time to Write: No Excuses, No Distractions, No More Blank Pages

When Cleo Tidwell said, "I do," for the third time, she had no idea her marriage vows would be tested by a gaudy Velvet Elvis painting. But Cleo's not the kind of woman to let a velvet-offense-against-good-taste just hang--oh no, she's on a mission to oust the King. Trouble is, Elvis won't leave the building. And he's attractin' all manner of kooks, fanatics, and lookie loos to Cleo's doorstep. Everyone wants a piece of the painting, but Cleo's starting to suspect that whatever's haunting the Velvet Elvis wants a piece of her husband. Why else would her hubby trade in his car for a '56 pink Caddy, moonlight as an Elvis impersonator, and develop a sudden hankering for fried peanut butter and banana sandwiches? Between the death threats, psychic warnings "from beyond," kidnapping attempts, invitations to join the Blue Shoe Loonies, and even murder, Cleo's fighting for her life, her marriage, and the perseverance of good taste everywhere.

Susan Abel Sullivan lives in a Victorian house in northeastern Alabama with two dogs, way too many cats, and a couple of snakes. When not writing she likes to get her groove on by teaching Zumba Fitness classes. She is a graduate of the Odyssey Writing Workshop for speculative fiction.
