Chicago, IL (July 16, 2013) – World Weaver Press (Eileen Wiedbrauk, Editor-in-Chief) has announced Heir to the Lamp by Michelle Lowery Combs, a new YA novel and first in the “Genie Chronicles” is available in trade paperback and ebook today, Tuesday, July 16, 2013.

“An exciting new spin on a genie tale. Virginia is a feisty main character who I would love to have as a friend. Captivating!”

— Melissa Buell, author of the YA fantasy series, The Tales of Gymandrol

“Filled with magic, curses, and mystery ... a spellbinding journey I couldn’t put down.”

— Kelsey Ketch, author of Daughter of Isis

A family secret, a mysterious lamp, a dangerous Order with the mad desire to possess both. Ginn thinks she knows all there is to know about how she became adopted by parents whose number one priority is to embarrass her with public displays of affection, but that changes when a single wish starts a never-ending parade of weirdness marching through her door the day she turns thirteen. Gifted with a mysterious lamp and the missing pieces from her adoption story, Ginn tries to discover who...or what...she really is. That should be strange enough, but to top it off Ginn’s being hunted by the Order of the Grimoire, a secret society who’ll stop at nothing to harness the power of a real genie.

Heir to the Lamp is available in trade paperback and ebook via Amazon.com, Barnesandnoble.com, Kobo.com, and other online retailers. You can also find Heir to the Lamp on Goodreads.
